

Rolling Stone

SPECIAL ISSUE

HOT LIST

West smells the glove.

KANYE WEST

"Heartless" video

Kanye gets all emo, crooning about a faithless shorty like he's competing for Auto-Tune Idol. Plus, the cartoon video is weirdly titillating: We haven't been this attracted to an animated woman since we discovered Ms. Pac-Man. Wokka wokka.

TOBACCO

Fucked Up Friends

Filled with more Moogs than an ELP gig, this disc of slow-mo, mind-bending electro instrumentals (from the frontman to psych rockers Black Moth Super Rainbow) will make you feel like you washed down eight Benadryls with some bong water.

THE KILLERS

"Spaceman"

With its singalong chorus and blazing synths, this exuberant, New Wave-y standout from the Killers' new Day & Age makes getting abducted by aliens sound like the most fun thing ever. (Except the anal-probe part.)

CRYSTAL ANTLERS

"A Thousand Eyes"

These SoCal hipster faves have a late-Sixties psych-garage sound potent enough to blow the bandeezy right off Little Steven's head.